The Wireline Competition Bureau (Bureau) has completed its review of your application to participate as a broadband provider in the Affordable Connectivity Program (ACP). After review of the application and the supporting documentation submitted on behalf of the carrier identified above, the Bureau has approved the carrier to participate in the ACP in the approved jurisdictions referenced above.

This approval is only for the carrier identified above to participate in the approved jurisdictions. If the carrier submitted a request for approval of an alternative household eligibility verification process, the carrier will receive a separate determination once the Bureau has reviewed the described eligibility verification process.

The carrier is reminded that it must review and comply with all applicable ACP rules, requirements, and procedures. This includes the necessary ACP election procedures administered by the Universal Service Administrative Company. For more information regarding this election process and other ACP requirements, refer to the USAC website at <https://www.usac.org/about/affordable-connectivity-program/>.

2021

On November 15, 2021 a bill was passed in Congress and the Affordable Connectivity Program was born with the goal of providing all Americans with internet access.

$14 BILLION

was allocated to the FCC to support underserved Americans

It is estimated that

45 MILLION

Americans qualify for free internet service, but currently only 15 million have taken advantage of this program.

That leaves

30 MILLION

UNDERSERVED AMERICANS
WHO ARE NOT AWARE OF THIS OPPORTUNITY

RogueMobile is an authorized provider of high speed internet data service connection to underserved children, families and communities.

We partner with government, non-profits, schools and universities to get the word out. Our goal is that every American can be connected, no matter what their circumstances.

ROGUE

Together we can connect communities.

At RogueMobile we are passionate about equality and we know reliable internet is a true necessity to compete fairly in our technology dependent world.

Our mission is to see everyone connected to the internet, regardless of their individual circumstances.

We want to partner with you let people know about this program so children, families, and our local communities can be connected--every one of us.
